

Careers Conference Coming

Today marks the start of the George Fox College Careers Conference which will be taking place here throughout the week. This is a conflagration of career specialists and panels, the purpose of which is to enlighten GFC students and others interested in careers available and methods of determining which to follow.

Special chapel presentations for everyone will take place Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Also, each department will have a day allotted to it in which it can schedule conferences, panels, and/or other presentations. The division may choose to cancel classes in that department for that day, as Psychology has.

The days allotted to the divisions are as follows: Monday, Education; Tuesday, Fine and Applied Arts; Wednesday, Natural Science; Thursday, Language Arts; and Friday, Religion and Social Science.

During chapel time Monday, there will be a split meeting in which Dr. Lillian VanLoan will speak to the girls on "Careers for Women." VanLoan is a retired member of the Division of Continuing Education and is well known in educational circles for her experience in this field. This will be followed by a panel discussion on the same subject. The panel will consist of GFC alumni outstanding and accomplished in this area, as well as others.

At the same time Monday there will be a similar panel discussing the effects of Military or C.O. service, presumably for the men. At 3:00 the Education Umbrella will present a panel discussion on Women's Liberation.

Marshall McLuhan's film, PICNIC IN SPACE, will be viewed in chapel Wednesday. It has received national recognition, and promises to be of interest and education to all those present.

In the Friday chapel, Dr. Ayres G. D'Costa will speak on career choices and what goes into the decision of a career. He is from Ohio State and is the developer of the Ohio Vocational Interest Survey (OVIS), a test designed to guide people in choosing their careers. The presentation will be preceded by a panel. D'Costa will also be participating in other events of the day.

The Careers Conference is an outgrowth of the seminar "Understanding Human Behavior--The Context of a Career" held last spring by the Psychology Department. Because of its success and pertinence, it was decided that the whole school would be involved. The conference is being organized by Dr. Sheldon Louthan.

Also available during the week will be vocational tests, joint interview opportunities, professional exhibits and displays. There will also be films on career choice.

Representatives of hiring organizations on campus will include ones from Bell Telephone, the Civil Service, and The Chemawa Indian School. John Beck's father, of Bell, will speak about career possibilities in the field of data processing.

The representatives of the divisions participating are Division I, Bob Brown, faculty, Terry Williams and Barbara Haines; Division II, Ruth Gilman, faculty, and Dwight Larson; Division III, Paul Cammack, faculty, Bev Knight and Anne Barager; Division IV, Hecotr Munn, faculty, and Rick Johnson; Division V, Myron Goldsmith, faculty, and Roger Knox; and Division VI, Sheldon Louthan, faculty, Lyn Pasak, Beth Burbank, and Bob Hicks.

Random Sample Sings

The Random Sample, seven California collegians, presented a concert the evening before winter term opened.

The group decided to take a year off from school to travel for Youth For Christ International representing Campus Life clubs.

Practice sessions began two years ago in the San Diego area. The group became acquainted through campus life at San Diego State College.

Following the concert comments like, "they sure are good and that is really a good name. The Random Sample", were heard on campus. Yet, none of the group is majoring in music.

Seattle is their next planned week. They will be giving assemblies in public high schools. According to the group, their goal for this tour of the nation is to share what Jesus Christ can do in a person's life.

President Le Shana receives William Penn Charter

Recently, Shambaugh Library received a 300-year-old land grant signed by William Penn.

The historical document was permanently loaned to Shambaugh Library by Dr. Howard E. Kershner and his wife Gertrude.

Kershner helped found Christian Freedom Foundation in 1950 and now is chairman of the board. He is also editor of "Christian Economics" and has written hundreds of papers and columns. In 1969 Kershner spoke at the George Fox College commencement.

The faded deed was in Haverford College, Haverford, Penn., from 1934 until it was placed in Shambaugh Library.

This 15-inch by 20-inch piece of sheepskin grants 500 acres of land in Pennsylvania to Morris Lewhelin (Llewellyn) for 5 shillings and an annual quit rent of "one pepper corn only."

The Morris Lewhelin named in the deed was Mrs. Kershner's 10th great-grandfather. The deed is a first in a series of three in the possession of her family.

A house built on one corner of the land is still standing today. The chimney of the house bears the date, 1699.

The ancient document now rests in a glass case in Shambaugh Library.

Who Will Answer?

"Who Will Answer?" is the theme of the upcoming Missions Conference. It will start on Sunday, January 17 at the Newberg Friends Church with 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. services. On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, the 18th through the 20th, the services will be held in Woodmar Auditorium at 11:00 each morning and 7:00 each night.

The main speaker will be Bill Harding from the Sudan Interior Mission. He specializes in relating missions to college students. He has spent fifteen years on the mission field in Ethiopia.

According to the chairman of the missions conference committee, Bob Woodruff, the purpose of the conference is "to give the student body a broader view of the world mission of the church." The conference is scheduled also to provide opportunity for students to discern God's will as far as missions are concerned.

New to the mission conference this year are confabs to be held after every evening service. This is to provide a time for students to ask questions and discuss missions with the missionaries that will be available on campus. There will also be a feature film shown each day and several others shown each afternoon.

There will be from fifteen to twenty missionaries here on campus available to speak in classes or talk to students. They will each be interviewed and introduced in chapels. They will also be present at each confab.

Some of the mission boards represented are Northwest Yearly Meeting, Oriental Missionary Society, World Vision, and Africa Inland Mission.

College

Receives Grant

by Joni Sanders

A $50,000 grant, the largest ever received for general operating expenses, was awarded last week to the college.

The Millicent Foundation gift will be placed in the college's annual or general fund budget, according to president Dr. David LeShana.

Larger gifts in the past have all been property donations or earmarked for specific building causes.

The Millicent Foundation is based in Vancouver, Washington. The Executive Director is Hubert Leonard.

LeShana said he felt the grant shows increasing support for the college's philosophy of higher education.

Bayer Works Wonders

Many students here at GFC try to meet the standard of perfection set by the grading system or a 4.00. Unfortunately, and perhaps understandably few make the perfect GPA.

This term five sophomores missed the desired goal by a very narrow margin. The reason why they received a 3.94 instead of the 4.00 was a particularly demanding one hour course. The strangest aspect of the situation is that this course is best described as intensified or "above and beyond the call of duty."

Many students have found one hour courses a real headache. On the other hand, these courses are often very enjoyable. But this term, I know of at least five students who have really splitting migraines.

Letters to the Editor

Who are you,
Stephanie?

By PAUL WILLIAMS

To the editor:

Initially I was upset by the recent switch from Quakers to Bruins. I felt like somebody was tampering with my past and that it was presumptuous that the alumni hadn't been consulted. But after reflecting on my relation to GFC as an alumnus, I see the matter in a slightly different light. We alumni only have memories, and those are of a peculiar chemistry of people and events that comprise the college during our years there. That chemistry can't be recreated, but more than that, it can't be altered either. Your decision to be Bruins will become a part of your memories, and that is good. But we alumni remain Quakers. Joni Sanders' illustrated epitaph doesn't bury Foxy George for us.

Diane Bradley
Class of '66

To The Editor:

This letter is written in reaction to recent and past action taken by the administration as a result of student participation in the drinking of alcoholic beverages.

We are very concerned with the inconsistent enforcement of rules governing student conduct. In order for a rule or ruling body to command the respect of those ruled, the rules and punishment for the disregard of those rules must be plainly stated, and enforcement must be consistent. According to the GFC Student Handbook (1970-71) "... The use or possession of alcoholic beverages or attendance at a social occasion that has as its express purpose the consumption of alcohol is sufficient cause for immediate dismissal."

The rule as stated leaves much room for inconsistency, as it is up to the discretion of the administration what degree of punitive measure, if any, should be taken for breach of said rule.

This means that when this rule is breached someone must decide whether the offender will be allowed to remain a student or not. Why should anyone have the right to make this decision, at his discretion?

It is too late to change past decisions, but we feel that for the future specific rules with specific and consistent punishments should be brought into affect. If a rule is broken no favorites should be played. The punishment stated should be given. This would help eliminate the idea in some people's minds that they can get away with neglect of the rules if they are a "good student, an athlete, a member of a large group or floor, or a personal friend of someone in an administrative position.

We are not against rules. Rules are a necessary part of any community. But to be just and effective they and their enforcement must be consistent.

Sincerely,
Paul D. Williams

Bradshaw Leaves Gift

by Joni Sanders

Charles C. Bradshaw, a 93-year old resident of Newberg, was buried here last week without a public funeral.

No officials or members of the community attended and there was no eulogy.

Still, he left his $40,000 estate to the city of Newberg, roughly a quarter of it; and $12,500 of it George Fox College.

The way the money will be used here has still not been decided.

Mr. Bradshaw apparently attended classes here between the years 1943-1945, when he would have been over 65 years old.

Attorney George Layman, administrator of Bradshaw's estate, remarked of the benefactor, "He was like a Biblical person from the past. He wore a cape, was not dressed, fancy and walked with a long walking stick."

letters ranging everywhere from being nasty and sarcastic (that's a no-no) to being somewhat complimentary, (such as when this supposed voice chased some annoying kids out of the canyon). Anyhow, she says that this voice has told her that she is not hearing a voice at all but that it is merely a figment of her imagination. Does that sound like something a sane person would confess?

Well, with this information I went to Dave to see if he has anything to say in defense of himself. I first asked him if he knew who this Stephanie is. (there is no Stephanie on campus). His reply was, "she's definitely not a figment of my imagination." I then asked for a more direct answer but he said that, "Politics doesn't allow a direct answer." Dave feels that Stephanie's writing to him specifically has to be a random guess, but he does believe that she actually hears a voice. His theory is that Stephanie must feel guilty about something and this is her conscience speaking to her.

When asked what possible purpose the voice could serve, Dave replied that it is here by the "Call of destiny" and that it "definitely keeps Edwards on their toes and it keeps their curtains closed." I guess that must be a good thing.

Dave said that the only administrative action on the voice

Did you hear about the rabbit that washed his hare and couldn't do a thing with her?

BEETLE BAILEY

Laiunger Receives Doctorate

By JIM SHAW

Bob Lauinger professor of music, is on leave to finish his Doctor of Musical Arts degree at the U of Arizona. Last Dec. he gave his third of four recitals on the clarinet. This was accompanied by a lecture of "Stylistic Trends in 20th Century Solo Clarinet Literature." The recital consisted of four pieces which are representative of different contemporary styles. These were Sonata by Alvin Etler, Sonatine by Arthur Honegger; Vier Stuecke fuer Klarinette und Klavier by Alban Berg; and Nocturne for Solo Clarinet and Tape by Henk Badings.

Mr. Lauinger discussed each of these selections with regards to their background, form, tonality, and meter.

Also required for his degrees are lessons on other instruments, so he has been taking lessons on bassoon oboe and flute in addition to his clarinet lessons. He takes his preliminary exams in February and his final recital will be in April.

that he knows of is that Vic Gregg said that he would like to hear the voice more often. Dave said that Vic has many figments to his imagination.

In the recent confrontation in the dorms several females, probably stirred up by Stephanie, brought the "problem" of the voice to Dean Ankeny. His reaction was that anyone who wanted to turn in Dave Greenwald as being the mysterious voice could and only after this was done could action be taken against this voice. There was no response to this.

Dave says that the voice most definitely is a good thing and feels that Stephanie is very sincere, a little nutty, but sincere.

Not wanting just to take Dave and Stephanie's opinions on the existence of a voice I quizzed several students to see if they had heard a voice. The general reaction was "What voice?" and "No, I haven't heard a voice." Sorry about that Stephanie.

One student said that he has heard a voice on several occasions but felt that it was coming from a little higher up than third floor Hobson. (4th floor maybe).

I asked if Dave had any plans for defending himself and his unblemished character, and he said that he will stick to being on the offensive. (Better watch out or the voice will get you).

My conclusion is that the only voice we are hearing must be in ourselves and I would advise Stephanie not to study hard this term. Dr. Louthan's office is open for consultation almost every afternoon also.

Beethoven's Birthday Celebrated

By JIM SHAW

Wednesday, Dec. 16, the department celebrated the 200th birthday of Ludwig Van Beethoven. A party was held for all the music students and the entire faculty. A large cake inscribed with "Happy Birthday Ludwig" was happily devoured by all those present. Some of the guests were members of the Audio-visual department, and Miss McNichols, Mrs. Cole, an Mr. Parrish of the Library. As an added feature music by Beethoven was played. Mr. Bob Gilmore however marred this festive occasion with his attempt at humor with his "joke" about Beethoven "decomposing"

Bus Stop in Mexico

By DEBBI CORUM

December 17, 27 anxious, eager GFC students boarded a bus to go to Mexico for the first week of their Christmas Vacation.

The group was made up of: Carolyn Woodruff, Deborah Corum, Yvonne Sahli, Adele Gulley, Craig Bersagel, Miriam Grover, Greg Weast, Susan McKay, Dan Hill, Genni Grover, Bev Rez, Janet Wagner, Mary Smith, Michael Duran, Stephen Anderson, Marie Gunn, Cheri Audette and Bob and Betty Janzen.

The others were "tag alongs" to be dropped off in Los Angeles. Bob and Betty Janzen replaced Ron Crecelius who was unable to travel with the group because of illness. The Janzens were accompanied by their three sons.

Planning for this trip began early in the school year. Even so, many problems came up during the last two weeks before departure. For an example, SCU was unable to get the bus they planned to use and ended up borrowing one. Also, just a week before the trip, Ron Crecelius was ordered by his doctor to stay home.

When the trip finally was underway, it was a 32 hour non-stop drive. The group arrived in Mexico at 3:30 a.m.

The purpose of the trip was to work at an orphanage 10 miles south of Ensenada and about 100 miles south of the border. The students took Christmas toys which had been donated by students, faculty and friends of GFC.

At the orphanage and in a nearby village, the group passed out gifts. In the village, Mander, candy and tracts were also passed out to children and adults.

The students also worked with pick and shovel. They dug a line for underground electricity and made footing for an educational unit.

Coming home provided lots of excitement. Barring a side-swipe by a Tijuana taxi, all went well until the bus reached San Clemente. Here the bus broke down.

The group spent the night in a Presbyterian Church. Repairs on the bus were not immediately possible so students began to find other ways to get home.

Christmas Eve was the scheduled time to return to Newberg. Many students got home by Christmas but some did not get home until the day after.

Six Students Suspended

On December 17th and 18th the administrative council acted to suspend for at least one term five male students on failure to abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages on several occasions.

Also suspended was one female for breaking hour regulations on at least three different incidents.

Five students were placed on disciplinary probation for one term for use of alcoholic beverages on just one occasion. Probation sanctions will be fulfilled during the month of January.

Some of these sanctions will include off-campus restrictions, class attendance, work projects, and counseling. No academic penalty was enforced.

Further details, names, etc., can be secured in Dean Ankeny's office. The transcript with this information may not leave the office however.

Dean Ankeny commented on the December occurrences with the following statement concerning the administrations actions. "This action is consistent with the procedure we've used in the last two years to strengthen our position as a college which believes that alcohol and drugs constitute a serious moral problem. We believe that obstinance is still a valid option for people who are faced with the cultural pressure to drink alcoholic beverages. I'm convinced this is the feeling of the overwhelming majority of students and faculty".

Student body Vice-President Stan Morse, R.A. for a number of those students involved in the suspensions had this to say: "What those students involved did was a dumb thing and even though I might not agree entirely with the way things were handled, I must say that they were done in all fairness to the students. I believe a person can make a mistake and since no one is perfect the faculty must, and I believe did, act upon this assumption".

More Than Student Teaching

By JIM SHAW

"I was really scared for the first week because I knew that there was no supervising teacher to go to for help". This is one of the comments that Christine (Chris) Sherer has made while talking about her experiences at St. Paul. She has taught choir during fall term at the St. Paul High School.

Walking into the job is a story in its own right, but it basically came because she was taking a psychology class last spring. While Chris was at the St. Paul High School she inadvertently was looking for the music department. Through a series of events she was notified in Sept. that she would be in charge of the choir.

Since she was the music department she was left on her own resources. Chris had to buy music in order for her choir to start rehearsals, and she was responsible for the programming, scheduling of class time, and the final concert itself.

One of the more exciting things was the dress rehearsal. It turned out to be a concert for the combined grade schools (public and Catholic) and the high school, about 400 students. For the official concert there was a good turnout of parents and interested community people.

Bruins

Improve Record

By PAUL WILLIAMS

The weather in Alaska is even colder than it is around here, but apparently it's just what the doctor ordered for the round-ballers from George Fox. As of Monday, January 4th, the Bruins had swept two games from the Vikings of Alaska Methodist, boosting the total season record to five wins and five losses. Last year George Fox only managed three wins in 26 games.

After picking up one win against E.O.C. in the Tip-Off Tournament, the Bruins moved on to Pacific as the team favored to win. That in itself is something unheard of around George Fox. Apparently it was enough to shake up the team because they just couldn't get things together. Gordy Loewen was ousted by the referee in the first half for "protecting himself" which really hurt the team effort as the Boxers of Pacific out rebounded the Bruins 52 to 36. The Bruins took off to a 10-4 lead but half way through the first period the game was knotted 19-19. With five minutes left in the first period the Boxers took a 28-27 lead and the Bruins were to never take the lead again. Top scorer for the Bruins was Dave Morgan with 15 counters in the losing effort which ended in a score of 83-69.

The next encounter proved much more successful for the Bruins as they over-came a 32-32 halftime score to defeat the Ore-Diggers who were out-scored 49-27 in the second half under the hot hand of Sammy Ibarra who pumped in 31 points in the game, 21 coming in the second half. Ibarra hit 12 of 18 from the floor and seven of eight from the charity line. Runner up for scoring honors was Gordy Loewen who pumped in 18 points and pulled down 15 rebounds as Montana Tech was outmatched in the rebounding area 53-38.

In the first half it was anybody's game as the lead changed nine different times and the half ended in a tie. However, 90 seconds into the second half the Bruins gained a 37-36 edge and never lost the lead again.

O.C.E., who George Fox meets on February 2nd in a home contest, beat Montana Tech 93-90, a margin of only three points and it took them over-time to do it.

On December 19th, the Bruins took on the Leopards of La Verne, a college of about 1,000 students, in an unscheduled contest in home territory. This game was even more exciting than the previous one as the lead was changed 11 times, the score was tied 12 times, and final scores of both teams showed a difference of only 2 points, 76-74, with George Fox taking the winning honors. Tom Ackerman pumped in 26 points at a .610 percentage clip mostly from the key area. The pass to him inside the key was the only thing that was really effective against the tenacious defense of La Verne. In the closing minutes the Bruins were at the free throw line repeatedly as the Leopards had to take chances for the ball.

Ibarra pumped in 14 points to be second man in scoring, which keeps his average at 14.8 for the season. Roger Curtis also sank 14 points to improve his average of four. The Bruins out rebounded their opponents 68-51 as they improved their record to three wins and three losses.

The following Monday and Tuesday the Bruins moved on to California as they matched talents against Fresno Pacific which is just about all we should say about these games. Fresno Pacific won both games with scores of 59-65 and 65-84 respectively. Monday night Dave Morgan put in 25 points but had no help at all. Tuesday night Ed Fields was high scorer with 13 points.

One of the things that hurt the team is that Loewen received a back injury in the La Verne encounter and it was still bothering him. Consequently the rebound strength and defense wasn't at its peak. However, the Bruins were also shooting poorly and had a fantastic amount of turnovers mostly traveling violations.

Saturday the 2nd, the George Fox team kept up their traveling trends as they moved on to Alaska Methodist for three games. The Bruins won their first two games up North. In the first game the Bruins had at the end of the first half 45-37 and they didn't trail in the second period.

Gordy Loewen pumped in 21 points and grabbed 21 rebounds and Tom Ackerman put in 20 points. This is the first time this year that the team has had two players scoring 20 or more points in one game. Even though they led by 13 at one time and never lost the lead in the second half, Coach Miller felt they could have played better.

The game on Monday was a lot harder to win than the first one though the Bruins did win by a ten point margin 73-63. The halftime score showed the Bruins leading 35-31 but with two minutes left in the game the score was knotted 60-60 with 1:12 left, the Bruins led by only one point. But from then on it was all George Fox. Sammy Ibarra put in two field goals and Loewen and Morgan put in two field goals each to top off the scoring.

Top point maker for the Bruins was Sammy Ibarra with 24 points. Dave Morgan put in 15 and Loewen scored twelve. Loewen also pulled down 20 rebounds which gave a total of 39 rebounds in the two games against Alaska Methodist.

The next game sees George Fox going to Victoria, B.C. to play the University of Victoria on Jan. 15-16 and on the 26th they play on the home court of Western Baptist. The next home game for the Bruins is on Jan. 29 and 30 against O.T.I. Be there!

Interest Group Forming

by Roxie Clavert

A gymnastic interest group is being organized this term by coach Brood to give girls a chance to improve self confidence, appearance and pride through gymnastics.

The idea is to provide an opportunity for women who have an interest in gymnastics and want to improve their skills and perfect them.

The approach will be somewhat from a coaching situation in order to work for perfection above and beyond what is expected in a class.

If the interest is good and continues to grow, the opportunities for the exceptional ones to compete in meets will be set up. There are no plans for competing as a team in the coming term. With the caliber of girls on this campus it should only take a term or two to get into shape so we can look forward to meets and bring more attention to the GFC campus along with the attention our basketball team is bringing for us.

Anyone and everyone is invited to come out, there is no previous skill needed. The group will be expected to "put out" their very best because this is not a recreational night out with the friends. The group will meet one or two times a week and will work for perfection from a competitive angle working for form and execution in vaulting, floor exercise, Balance Beam and Uneven Parallel Bars.

Coach Brood hopes to travel with the girls to Corvallis and Portland State to get a look at what other girls in the field are doing. If the interest in this phase of sport holds out more help will be gotten and the men will be able to get involved also.

Contact Coach Brood and meet 8:30 tonight dressed down for some fun at the gym. If everyone enjoys gymnastics an intramural program will also
